

TONY NOON MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP Call for Applications

The Australian Petroleum Production & Exploration Association Limited (APPEA) invites applications from Honors, Masters or PhD students from an Australian university for the award of a one-off grant to a maximum value of $3,000. Applicants must be attending the university in the year of application and must be an Australian resident or citizen.

The purpose of the scholarship is to help students aspiring to, or considering, a career in the Australian oil and gas industry in any discipline directly related to the industry. This could include, but is not restricted to, exploration, safety, engineering, environment, and economic or legal areas.

Applicants may seek funds for purposes including but not limited to:

- Travel within or outside Australia.
- Attendance at a relevant conference to present a paper or poster describing their original work in a petroleum-related discipline.
- Work with relevant companies or academic institutions.

Funds awarded must be used as set out in the successful application.

The fund has been established in memory of Tony Noon who made an outstanding contribution to the petroleum industry through his work with the Queensland Department of Mines and Energy and later as a member of the APPEA staff.

Selection Criteria

Applicants must be an honors, Masters or PhD student attending an Australian university in the year of application and must be an Australian citizen or resident. The letter of application must include:

- The field of study and how it relates to the oil and gas industry;
- Details of the funds sought and the purpose to which they will be applied;
- A statement setting out how the applicant's career will benefit from the grant;
- A statement of support from the applicant's supervisor or head of department on official university letterhead/stationery; and
- Proof of citizenship or Australian residency.

How to Apply

Applicants should address the selection criteria outlined above. No form is provided. The award will be made on the basis of the nature and relevance of the research to the petroleum industry. Applications are to be addressed to:
